Dear Miss Sweeney:

In going over the book lists with Mrs. Farrand today we notice that you didn't include the prices when you copied the lists from the catalogs. Will you please send word to someone in Washington to return the envelope which I sent you marked "catalogs, do not forward" to me here so that we can make up some orders. We can't of course order without prices! Also Mrs. Farrand wonders if you can send the list of books which you have at D.C. and also the list of Mrs. Clark's books so that we won't duplicate in our ordering. I hope this will not be too great a chore for you while you are on your vacation, as we do want to get at this soon.

Yours sincerely,

Sabell Stover
